She was preceded in death by her husband, Willie A. "W.A." Curry; sisters, Gladys Axum and Lillian Elmore; and three brothers, Shelby Pierson, Lina Pierson and Calvin Pierson. Honorary pallbearers were Joe Danner and Joe Seckler.

Survivors include her daughters, Lorene Dempsey and Lou Anna Reynaud, both of Elkhart; sisters, Mary Parker and Irma Duitch, both of Elkhart; brothers, Charles Pierson of Grapeland, Wayne Pierson of Elkhart and Carroll Pierson of McKinney; four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

information from mission fields around the world, pastor Timothy M. Roddam will bring specially focused messages underscoring the theme of this year's convention such as "The Reluctant Missionary", "The Rough-edged Missionary" and "Four Resourceful Missionaries" in the Sunday morning services. Sunday evenings, Pastor Roddam will bring the emphasis to the home front as he addresses "Growing A Viable Church in a Rural Community".

Sunday, November 4, will also include a prayer focus directed toward "the persecuted church" . . . areas of the world where Christians are severely oppressed, tortured, and even put to death.
