

Betty Sue Lundy Dodd and by two special nephews Bob Hiltz and Jim Hiltz.
 James Bard Dodd, a 1918
 graduate of Masonic Home School was born October 27, 1899 in Yoakum to James Berry and Lotta Mae (Stough) Dodd. After the death of his father, who was a mason, Bard, his two sisters, Winnie and Thelma, and 5 year old brother Barney, spent their school days in the Masonic Home. He and Barney participated in track, basketball, baseball, and football. Bard attended the University of Texas on a baseball scholarship, majored in business administration, and also played in the Texas University Band. He played baseball under Billy Dish.
 Mr. Dodd returned to Yoakum as an accountant for the SA & AP Railroad and later business manager for automobile firms in Yoakum and Cuero, Texas. He became a member of the Masonic Lodge and has remained so for 72 years. While in Yoakum, he continued his love of sports where he and his brother Barney, constructed a municipal golf course where he fine tuned his golf game and became a scratch golfer.

In 1932 he married Ella Frances Mainer, an English teacher in the Yoakum High School, and they became parents of three children; Martha Lynn, Jim, and Gene Dodd.
 In 1942, after the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor, the Army Air Corps established a primary flight training school, just outside of Cuero, Texas. Even though Bard had been rejected from the draft, he enlisted his services as chief dispatcher at the airfield from 1942 through 1945.
 After WWII he became purchasing agent and an accountant for the Red Arrow Freight Lines, and left to become Secretary Treasurer of
