DR. ONEIDA STAPP HOLLAWAY

Dr. Ineida Stapp Hollaway, a woman of class and education, passed away Friday, December 27, 2002. Dr. Hollaway grew up in the Crockett area where she married the late Outy Lester Stapp and raised two children while attending college at Sam Houston State University and East Texas State University. Dr. Hollaway was a woman of determination and grit, who received her Ph.D. in English during a time when it was uncommon for a woman to do so. Dr. Hollaway taught at numerous Colleges, included Lee Bible College in Tennessee. Dr. Hollaway was a woman of strong principles and courage, and more than anything, she lived her life according to a strict moral and religious code. Dr. Hollaway was a faithful member of the Church of God her entire life, and most recently attended the Palestine Church of God and Malakoff Assembly of God. Dr. Oneida Stapp Hollaway was a virtuous woman for whom her children and grandchildren are proud to "arise up, and call her blessed" (Prov. 31:28).

Dr. Oneida Stapp Hollaway is survived by her husband James Boyd Hollaway, of Athens; sons Leland Stapp, of Athens, and Perry Stapp and wife Sandy of Lufkin; grandchildren Neda (Stapp) Morrow and husband Lance, of Athens, Suzanne (Stapp) Brelsford and husband Brian, of Austin, Eric Stapp, and Lester Stapp, both of Huntsville, Cory Stapp, and Scott Row, both of Lufkin; sisters and brother Earlene Brock and husband Virgil, of Lufkin, Zelma Wilson and husband LeeRoy, of Wichita Falls, Lowell Mayrant and wife Jewell, of Huntsville, and Eulene Milwee, of Crockett; great-grandchildren Heather and Jason Brelsford, and Elizabeth Stapp.

Dr. Oneida Stapp Hollaway was preceded in death by her husband Outy Lester Stapp.

Funeral services for Dr. Oneida Stapp Hollaway were held Sunday, December 29, in the Callaway-Allee Memorial Chapel with the Rev. David Boyd officiating.

Graveside services were held in the Latexo Cemetery with the Rev. Phil Mangum officiating. Interment followed.
